

CILIPS COVID-19 Book Reviews – Perfect Ten

Reviewer name: Mary

Book title: Perfect Ten

Author name: Jacqueline Ward

Genre: Psychological Thriller

Overall Rating: Excellent

Brief summary: The main character, Caroline, is successful in her own right but life has been cruel to her in the last few years. An opportunity to regain control of her life and exact revenge on her husband is gifted to her and she grasps it with both hands. It gets complicated and messy and as a reader you start to doubt your own moral compass.

What you liked: It was a very fast paced book, I couldn't stop reading it, thankfully it's not a huge book so it is something you can read end to end fairly quick.

I thought the story line was exciting and it had a several twists and turns and the characters are intriguing, possibly shocking. You are guessing through the whole book how it will end and will the main character (Caroline) end up a hero or villain.

Anything you didn't like: Not much, however, if you are not up to speed with social media you might find it difficult to work out whats happening and how it happens.

Who should read this book?: Men who are thinking of cheating behind their wives back.

Any additional comments?: Just read it, its fun and quick.
