President's Welcome

2022 is the Year of Scotland's Stories and what better way for us to celebrate than to be returning to an in-person conference to share our experiences, learn something new and enjoy the sense of community that Scotland's library profession is renowned for.

The CILIPS team have done a fantastic job of designing this year's conference programme to celebrate the range of roles libraries have in empowering individuals and communities, and to underline the importance of telling our own story about the value of our services, their ability to empower, inform, support and entertain.

I hope you find inspiration and challenge from the stellar line up and nourishment and support from the chance of being together again.

I look forward to seeing you!

Amina Shah
